The people behind Wandatrak

October 2009

Mike Sampson and Scott Neil are my technical advisors, Mike works as an engineer for Air New Zealand, and Scott works for the Police as a Field Radio Technician. Both have a very keen interest in the technical side of the programme. Currently they are writing a technical manual and working on a couple of development projects.

The Searches

I have looked at the number of Searches involving People with Dementia over the last couple of months. The staff figures include LandSAR volunteers. The figures in the graph speaks for themselves.
